

Why do we want to give up right to corporations? We don't. I don't want banks to call me at all hours of the day just so they can promote their credit cards. I receive enough in the mail one or two a day. I can throw them away. You only get mail once a day. I don't feel like banks calling me for that. I would have to disconnect the phone just to stay sane, and I don't know about you but the phone is more integrated in our lives than mail. Nobody would be able to use the phone. Every 5 minutes they would call. You need a phone in this day and age. I'm not ready to give up my right to privacy.

sincerely
